ABSTRACT

5

An enclosure such as a notebook computer chassis in which the thermosiphon devices are embedded in the skin of the enclosure is disclosed. The thermosiphon devices include heat pipes. The thermosiphon devices are use to absorb the heat dissipated by a heat source and dissipate it at a remote location.